SATURDAY EVENING, SEPT. 24

Pricked His Own Bubble.

This story, found in Rev. Dr. Henry H. Jessup's book, "Fifty-three Years in Syria," seems to indicate that religious vagaries are as short lived in the east as elsewhere. A friend of Dr. Jessup, visiting Jerusalem, met a queer looking solitary stranger pacing the streets of the city, accosted him, and after the usual greetings remarked:

"You are an American. I infer."

"Yes, I am," replied the queer looking man.

"And what are you doing here, if I may ask?"

"Ah, yes, I'm glad you asked. You see, I've come to preach the new doctrine, that there is to be no more death. If men will only accept it, we'll abolish death, and there'll be no more dying, nor graves, nor coffins, nor funerals. We shall just live right on."

"But," said Dr. Jessup's friend, "supposing you should sicken and die, what then?"

"Oh," said the man, "that would bust the whole thing!"

And it did. The poor delirious apostle died a few months later, and with him his "new doctrine."

Couldn't Think of It.

The handsome young plumber laid aside a piece of lead pipe and, approaching the beautiful kitchen maid, said:

"You look awful good to me."

"Go on; quit your kiddin'," she replied.

"But I mean what I say."

"I ain't got any time to listen to you now. Can't you see I'm busy?"

"Yes, but what's the use workin' when a fellow wants to make love to you? Say, if I make this job last so you can come back tomorrow will you have your work out of the way so we can talk things over? You're the purtiest girl I ever seen."

"If you think you can make a fool of me by such silly talk you're mistaken."

"But I mean every word I say. I want you to try to learn to love me."

"If you want to make love to me come around this evening. I'll be here."

"What! On my own time? What kind of a chump do you think I am?"

—Chicago Record-Herald.

Exact Thomas.

Thomas Hoar, the devoted servant upon whom Gilbert White, the English naturalist, depended to carry out his garden plans and to look after his comfort in many ways, was noted for his exactness. Mr. H. C. Shelley, in "Gilbert White and Selborne," gives an amusing illustration.

There was one occasion when Thomas came to report, "Please, sir, I've been and broke a glass."

"Broke a glass, Thomas! How did you do that?"

"I'll show you, sir," he rejoined as he disappeared for a moment. Returning with a glass in his hand, he let it fall on the floor, remarking:

"That's how I broke it, sir."

"There, go along, Thomas; you are a great fool," said his master, adding to himself, "and I was as great a one for asking such a foolish question."

Getting an Autograph.

A Munich boy of fourteen, who had seen and admired many of Rudolf von Seitz's paintings, was anxious to secure the painter's autograph, but did not know how to go about it. After much thought he wrote a letter, stating that he had sent a case of wine to the professor's address, and wanted to know whether it had been received. Thinking the matter of sufficient importance the painter did not write, but called at the address given, met the boy's mother, and the fraud soon became apparent. The boy was thoroughly scolded, and next day received this autograph note:

It often happens here on earth. That little rogues to great ones grow. Some autographs for which you're trying Can be procured without much lying.

Queer Looking Worms.

New Zealand, Australia, the Samoan and the Solomon Islands as well as portions of the Hawaiian group are the homes of various species of worms with thick, heavy bodies and with a well defined neck connecting the body with a head that is a startling reminder of that of the monkey. In the Sandwich Islands they are called "me-ta-lu-ki," which means "creeper with a child's head." An old New Zealand legend says that at one time they were of immense proportions and threatened the extinction of all human life on the islands.

Irish Wit.

Swift scoffed at Irish "wit" in some biting lines. Nevertheless Irish wit is one of the most precious things. One soon has a surfeit of the professional funny man in England, the pawky Scot, the American humorist. The Irish peasant never disappoints, and with him it is all so naive and natural. —London Saturday Review.

Goodness and Greatness.

Goodness comes from within—from feelings, thoughts and desires resulting in actions. Greatness is the consequence of bold actions, great energy, ambition, enterprise and perseverance.

Impressed Her.

"You will never be able to make her believe that he is a liar."

AWFUL PAINS

FULLY DESCRIBED

A Lady of Pizarro Tells Story of Awful Suffering That Cardui Finally Relieved.

Pizarro, Va.—"I suffered for several years," writes "Mrs. Dorna A. Smith," "with that awful backache and the bearing down sensations, so fully described in your book."

"I tried doctors and other medicines and found little relief, until I was induced to try Wm. D. Cardui, when I found instant relief and today I can heartily recommend Cardui to all suffering women and think there is no other so good."

In some instances, Cardui gives instant relief; in others, it may take a little time. But in all cases of female trouble Cardui can be depended on to be of benefit, as it is a specific remedy for women and acts in a curative way on the womanly organs.

As a general tonic for women, to build up your strength, improve your appetite, bring back rosy cheeks and make you look and feel young and happy, nothing you can find will do so much for you as Cardui.

Your druggist has it.

FILMY GARB WON ELECTION.

Women as congressional campaign managers have demonstrated their usefulness in the summer time. Political aspirants are not advised to place their destinies in the hands of the gentler sex during the colder months. Mary Jane Brunson, a winsome brunette of twenty summers, put "Pat" Harrison in Congress from the Sixth Congressional district of Mississippi, over J. R. Tally, by 1,239 votes in the second primary.

Her success in a campaign lasting three months has attracted the attention of W. A. Dickson, candidate for Congress in the Seventh district, who is opposed by Thomas Shelton. This primary will be decided September 21.

The chief assets of Mary Jane Brunson in the Harrison campaign were open-work hosiery and gauze-like shirtwaists and when she appeared before an audience in her bewitching and cool summer garb, the Tally men had to succumb. Then, too, she had a line of argument against trusts, combines, high tariff and scandals in mighty circles that was hard to get around.

Certain girl acquaintances assert that Miss Brunson would never have landed her man if the campaign had been fought out during the winter.

TRANSMUTATION A FAILURE.

Although he insists that he can "make" silver from base metals, E. D. Gleason, the Philadelphia who is said to have sold Dr. F. W. Lange an alleged transmutation process a few months ago, languishes in a cell in the Lackawanna, Pa., county jail. He was committed on Wednesday on the charges of forgery and false pretence preferred by Dr. Lange.

Immediately after Gleason was arrested last Friday week he informed A. O. Granger, a wealthy Philadelphian, of his plight, and Granger went to Scranton, Pa., and interested himself in Gleason's behalf. It seems that prior to his arrest Gleason had conducted a number of experiments, at which Granger was present, and had practically convinced him that he could transmute base metals into silver.

After Gleason had been held in $10,000 bail on the Lange charges Granger prevailed upon the authorities to allow the chemist to remain in the custody of a constable long enough to perform another experiment in the presence of two chemists selected by Granger. If they are convinced of the genuineness of the process Granger would go the limit in getting Gleason out of his trouble. The experiment was performed Monday night, and as Gleason failed to satisfy the experts Granger withdrew and allowed the professed alchemist to go to jail.

The charges against Gleason are rather hazy, but Dr. Lange claims that they have no connection with his transmutation process. He says Gleason procured $25,000 from him on a forged note.

ARBuckle BUYS PEARY SHIP.

The Roosevelt, the steamer in which Peary went to the arctic regions on his trip to the North Pole, has been bought by John Arbuckle, who will not say at present, however, what his plans are for her. He promises to let the public know later.

Mr. Arbuckle bought the ship from the Peary Arctic Club. She may be used in some of Mr. Arbuckle's charities for workmen and women. He was the originator of the floating hotel for persons not able to pay the average rates for board and lodging.

Mr. Arbuckle saved the government many thousands of dollars by his feats of raising the naval vessels Yankee and Nero by means of his compressed air system, and has been reported as eager to apply that method to the salvage of the sunken Maine, in Havana harbor. He would give no hint last night, however, of any intention to use the Roosevelt in such work.

Accident to an Automobilist.

Mineola, L. I., Sept. 24.—Rushing along at better than sixty-five miles an hour, George Robertson, the nationally famous racing driver, lost control of his giant Penz car on the Motor Parkway yesterday and was seriously if not fatally hurt. He is now in the Mineola hospital with a fractured right collar bone and right arm, a probable fracture of the skull and internal injuries.

Dysentery is a dangerous disease but can be cured. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy has been successfully used in nine epidemics of dysentery. It is never been known to fail. It is equally valuable for children and adults, and when reduced with water and sweetened, it is pleasant to take. Sold by W. F. Crockett and Richard Gibson.
